Do you feel safer on the streets now? Are you still able to put food on the table and gas in the tank? It seems that Oregon needs a change in direction.

Homelessness

- A Hand Up, not a Hand Out. Offer help to those who want to get back on their feet. Stop current policies that enable and promote homelessness, creating an endless dependency on your tax dollars.
- Much of the homeless crises is the result of substance abuse or mental illness. The root causes of homelessness must be addressed if the crises are to be abated.

Healthcare

- Let doctors practice medicine without interference from politically motivated state or federal bureaucrats.
- No more mandates. No more lockdowns. They are ineffective and cause more harm than good.

Education

- Parents, not schools, not government, are responsible for the upbringing of children.
- Publicly funded curriculum should be transparent and available for public review. Lesson plans should be available to parents upon request. No secrets.
- Parents should be free to peacefully object at School Board meetings without fear of being labeled a "domestic terrorist" or other retribution.
- School Choice! End the public school monopoly. Allow vouchers for private schools and tax credit for home school.

Constitution

- Protect the First Amendment - freedom of the press - without government censorship.
- Protect the right to peacefully protest. Riots and looting are not peaceful protest, and persons who engage in such should be prosecuted.
